YOUTH IS CHARGED WITH SHOPLIFTING

Police Say They Have Captured Clever Professional.

SUSPECTED OF MANY THEFTS

Giving Several Names and Numerous Residences, Swagman Young Man Impresses Detectives as Hardened Criminal—Said to Have Used Handbag to Carry Away Articles.

When Harry Dorgan, alias Harry Dugan, eighteen years old, was arrested by Detectives Berman and Cox in a downtown department store, the police said they had taken into custody a clever pickpocket and shoplifter, who was planning to systematically rob Washington merchants.

Dorgan is what the police call a "professional" and an official who tried to question the lad, characterized him as "the wisest kid I've ever seen." Dorgan had nothing to say except what the police believe to be falsehoods. "What is your name?" he was asked, and almost before the words had left the questioner's lips, the youthful prisoner had given six or seven names, smiling insolently at the men around him.

"Where do you live?" was the second question, and the boy gave the names of several cities with the rapidity and indistinctness of a train announcer in a railroad station. He was asked several other questions, but his replies were so unsatisfactory he was placed in a patrol wagon and removed to the First precinct station.

Charged with Larceny.

Dorgan is charged with petit larceny, it being alleged he stole a pair of shoes from the store. On May 19 last a well-dressed young man entered the store and sat down in a chair, telling a clerk he was waiting for a friend. The young man disappeared in a few minutes later, and a pair of shoes were found missing. Employees remembered the visitor had carried an alligator-skin hand bag.

When the same young man entered the store on Saturday night last and attracted attention with his flashy clothes and swagman manner, several clerks decided to watch him, but he disappeared without being seen to take anything. A derby was missing and a slouch hat, marked with the initial "D," was found in the place of the stolen headgear.

When a young man with an alligator-skin handbag entered the store yesterday afternoon the police were notified, and detectives were sent to the scene. While Dorgan sat on a bench, apparently waiting for a friend, the detectives stood behind a case watching every move he made. It is alleged he rose from the bench, walked behind a case, and slipped a box containing a pair of shoes into the alligator-skin bag. The police say the fastening on the top of the shoe box was arranged it could be easily opened and closed.

Dorgan was arrested as he was leaving the store, and it is said the box containing the shoes was found in the handbag. The police expect to lodge several charges against the prisoner, as he is believed to have committed several thefts in this city recently.

STATUS OF THE LIBEL CASE.

Department of Justice Shows Little Desire to Discuss It.

There is no disposition at the Department of Justice to discuss the action of Judge A. B. Anderson, of the United States District Court of Indiana, in releasing Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams, the Indianapolis publishers, whose extradition to the District of Columbia was sought by the government to have them tried on the Panama Canal libel charge.

COMPLAIN OF SERVICE.

Anacostia Citizens Want Closed Cars and More Light.

At the regular meeting of the Anacostia Citizens' Association last night matters of complaint upon existing conditions were voted to be carried before the proper authorities.

Inadequate heating in the frame police station has been the cause of recent discussion as to the urgent need of a modern building in place of the present structure, and a motion was carried that the matter of heating be placed before the municipal architect. Complaints have been given rise to the need of a better gas supply. In the matter of car service, the railroad commission will be asked to investigate as to why so many summer cars are allowed to run in cold weather, and why two-thirds of the lights are put out as soon as the cars enter the town limits.

Prof. Raymond Lectures.

Prof. George L. Raymond, of George Washington University, in his first lecture on "Aesthetics," yesterday afternoon, stated he would take up the outside relations of art and its influence on other departments. He spoke of the relation of art to mathematics and languages. The course will be continued Wednesday afternoon at 4:50 o'clock during the scholastic year.

Hale Goes Into Office.

Chandler Hale, of Maine, son of Senator Hale, yesterday assumed the duties of Third Assistant Secretary of State, succeeding William Phillips, of Massachusetts, who has been appointed first secretary of the American Embassy at London.

Stone Eagles in Place.

Four mammoth granite eagles, the largest to ornament a building in the National Capital, were hoisted into position at the Union Station yesterday. Two of the stone birds were placed over the President's entrance, and two over the taxicab entrance.

White and Black in Wedding.

George H. Wyant, white, and Lucille Russell, negro, were married yesterday at noon at Third street, and Clark and Rev. J. B. Robinson, of the Macedonia Baptist Church, of Marshall Hall. The marriage was arranged for Tuesday, but through a mistake in the signature of the clergyman the ceremony was delayed.

IMPROVEMENTS DEMANDED

Brightwood Park Citizens Ask for Better Sewer Facilities.

Claim Made That There Is Not Proper Drainage in the Suburb—Complaints as to Cars.

It was urged at the meeting of the Brightwood Park Citizens' Association in Griffith Hall, Georgia avenue and Longfellow street, last night, that sewerage facilities be placed in that portion of Brightwood east of Georgia avenue as soon as the trunk lines west of this district are complete. At present, it is complained, there is not proper drainage in the eastern part of Brightwood, and as traffic and other public demands are hampered, the association is anxious that immediate attention be given the matter.

In reply to a recent request that Jefferson and Fifth streets northwest be opened, the engineering department of the District reported that the question will again be referred to Congress.

Complaint was made of the overcrowding of cars on the Brightwood line in the morning and evening hours. It is claimed this is due to an insufficient number of cars. The matter was referred to the railroad commission, with instruction to write a letter to the proper authorities recommending that more cars be put in service between 7 and 9 o'clock in the morning, and 4:30 and 7 o'clock in the evening.

The association formed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That we unanimously vote Adolph Van Rensselaer, of our heartiest indorsement, and pledge him our earnest support in the work his untiring effort has begun, and that we tender him our sincere thanks for the results already accomplished and those the attainment of which in the near future, seems assured."

The following committees were appointed by the president: railroad, telegraph, and telephone, W. A. Trotter, chairman; Andrew Bergeson, and William H. Barrett, streets, sewerage, and lighting, E. Howson, chairman; A. Miller, S. H. McCauley, Thomas B. Penick, Dr. William E. Burton, W. Charles Helms, C. E. Garvey, and P. H. Hill, membership, R. T. Donovan, chairman; Albert W. Dicker, and George W. Osborn, churches, schools, and parks, Dr. E. G. Cambert, chairman; George Simmons, and R. R. Soggs, entertainment, Frank J. Miller, chairman; E. J. Kirgan, F. J. Brown, J. P. ### LECTURES ON RILEY.

Hooster Poet's Career Followed by Rev. Mr. Huddle.

An interested audience listened last evening at the Church of the Atonement to a lecture on James Whitcomb Riley, the Hooster poet, by Rev. John T. Huddle, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The lecture was arranged under the auspices of the Men's Society of the church in which it was delivered. C. E. Haupt, president of the society, presided. Miss Bertha Gensdorf gave a piano solo.

Rev. Mr. Huddle assembled his materials under the title "James Whitcomb Riley and his rhymes."

In passing, the speaker observed it was singular that the author of "When the Frost is on the Pumpkin and the Corn is in the Shock" should have been born in a town and not in the country.

Mrs. Marion L. Harper Dies.

Word of the death of Mrs. Marion L. Harper at Wheeling, W. Va., last Sunday has been received in this city. Cerebral hemorrhages resulted when Mrs. Harper fell from a car. Her daughter, Miss Henrietta Harper, who has recently been living at the Westmoreland in this city, was called home. Mrs. Harper is survived by one son, Samuel W. Harper, of Wheeling, W. Va.; one sister, Mrs. John J. Glover, of Washington, and four brothers, L. D. Williams, of Minneapolis; Col. Charles A. Williams, U. S. A., now in the Philippines; C. F. Williams, of Grand Forks, N.
